

Foster animal record

Thank you so much for fostering! Our foster homes are the lifeblood of our organization. Please keep this record of your foster pet and give it to the adopter when the time comes. You may want to keep a copy for yourself as well.

Basic information

How did this animal come to you? _____

When did you receive it? _____

Approximate date of birth _____

Breed(s) (best guess) _____

Appearance (markings, etc.) _____

Medical

Parvo-distemper vaccine (“puppy shots”) — Give one as soon as possible after getting the animal, then every two weeks for puppies. Just one for adults. Place label from vial on this form.

Rabies vaccine — This must be administered by a veterinarian. If you still have your foster animal when it is four months old, take it to a vet for the vaccine. If you receive a tag, put it on the animal's collar. Keep your rabies certificate and attach it here:

Spay-neuter — Blackhat does its best to assure every pet we adopt out is spayed or neutered. Sometimes this is not possible because of conditions on the reservation, or the animal is too young (some vets will not spay or neuter an animal under a certain age or weight). Do your best to arrange a spay or neuter for your foster pet. Blackhat will reimburse you.

Date of spay-neuter: _____

Performed by _____

If your vet gives you a spay-neuter certificate, attach it here:

Behavior

Work with your pet as much as you have time for. A dog that is housebroken and knows what a leash is, is much more adoptable than one that ruins carpets and can't be taken on walks in the city. On this page, keep a record of your pet's demeanor and behavior, and any milestones (housebroken, learned to sit, etc.) Blackhat has a library of training manuals available for our foster volunteers' use.

Demeanor at intake — (timid, alpha, food-aggressive, etc.)

Adoption

This is the moment you and your foster pet have been preparing for! Congratulations! Make sure your pet's adopter has read and signed the adoption contract, and that you exchange contact information in case they or you have any questions. If possible, give them a copy of the contract so they remember what they signed.
